2. Approved collecting interest:

Field of interest : Military arms used in Southern African and world conflicts from 1890 onwards up to the late 20 th century with specific reference to Southern African connections .
Theme : British and Commonwealth arms used in the Second World War and later regional conflicts.
Sub Theme : Arms rebuilt and refurbished in South Africa for reserve and allied forces.

3. Description of firearm:

Type	Make	Model	Action	Calibre (Each barrel)	Serial no Barrel	Serial No Action/Frame	Serial No Receiver
Rifle	Lee-Enfield	No 4 Mk 2	Bolt	.303"	Nil	Nil	PF 12345

4. Collectable value (summary): This firearm fits the theme of my collection as it is first of all 1) an example of the Lee Enfield series of rifles used by Great Britain and it Commonwealth in both World Wars but also 2) because it is the last development of the No 4 series, having the trigger mounted in the receiver and not the trigger guard.
These arms were obtained by South Africa late in World War 2 and later refurbished with new barrels made with equipment bought from the UK. They later saw use with reserve forces until replaced overall by the 7.62 mm R1 rifle in the mid 1960's
